THE GREAT GERMAN JUNILEE.

CINCINNATI, June 12 .- The streets this orning have resumed their wonted appearance as far as crowding moving multitude is concerned, but the vast throng of yesterday (still in the city) seem t have taken themselves to the hilltops and parks, where balloon ascensions, picnics and concerts are the order of the day.

parks, where balloon, ascensions, picnics and concerts are the order of the day.

To-night has been a gala one for the Saengerfest both in the quality of the singing and the attendance. Fully four thousand people were seated before the opening of the concert, and the total attendance will probably number some hundreds more. The chorus seats were packed solidly by the male singers, and they presented quite a contrast in their absence of color when compared with the bright costumes of the lady singers of last evening. Prof. Carl Barus was director for the evening.

The concert opened with the "German Warrior's Oath and Prayer," written by Ferdinand Mochring previous to the breaking out of the Franco-Prussian war, and was inspired by the interview between the then King of Prussia and the French Envoy Bendetti at Ems. Mr. Remmertz sustained the solo admirably, and the chorus was exceedingly prompt in its movements. The second number of the programme, an aria, "Ah Perido," was sung by Emma Hickle, of this city. This was followed by a chorus for male voices, "Take Wing, My Song," sang without orchestral accompaniment, and was delivered in fine style. Miss Helen Balatka, of Chicago, drew rounds of bravos, and fairly received an ovation after singing an aria from the "Magic Flute," and the applause confore the bill was taken up the Democrats, at the suggestion of Frye, surrendered the bill which they have pushed so steadily in the morning hours for some weeks past, to prevent the government from protecting its officers in its own courts. The Democrats agreed to let it go over until December.

This was the ground taken by President Hayes also in his consultation with members of the House, and upon assurances that the President would sign the bill, a large majority of Republicans decided to vote for it. But there were a few Republicans who looked at the section as the same old doctrine in a new shape, and who would not consent to vote for it. These were Williams and Humphreys of Williams and Humphreys, of Wishers and Hum judging from their standpoint, in refusing Williams and Keifertime to speak, as they were both boiling over with a feeling that Garfield, Hawley and other leaders had surrendered the Republican position, and might have used some hard words. Keifer managed to get four minutes, and he did talk very plainly. He said that he and some others on the Republican side did not approve all that had been said by their Republican colleagues, and he complained that they had been gagged.

Williams followed him in a similar strain, but as he only had a minute and a half, he could not say much. He only indorsed what Mr. Keifer had said, and offered an amendment so as to change the reading of the clause, and prohibit the use of military, instead of ordinary civil police. But Messrs, Garfield and Hawley, with all but thirty-six Republicans, voted against Mr. Williams' amendment. Then Mr. Ward offered another amendment, and the bill was passed.

There were about twenty Republicans who were opposed to the bill. Some of them were paired, but Bayne, O'Neil and Ward, of Pennsylvania; Humphreys and Williams, of Wisconsin; Keifer and Young of Ohio; Joyce, of Vermont; Hall and Briggs, of New Hampshire; Daggett, of Nevada, and Cowgill, of Indiana, voted against the bill with a number of uncompromising Democrats.

It is a fact well established by unquestionable test.mony that Hall's Hair Renewer renews, cleanses, brightens, invigorates and restores to its original color and lustre, faded gray or discolored hair, cheaply, quickly and surely. The poorest people prefer to buy it and use it, rather than to proclaim in a manner more forcibe than words can delineate, through blanched locks or grizzly beard, that they are aged and passing to decay. A very short trial will convince the most skeptical that it does cradicate the scalp diseases which rob the hair of its color and life.—Fort Scott (Kan.) Daily Monitor.
